Meet the Creative Team

ANNIE CLARK-ROBERTS, DIRECTOR

Annie Clark-Roberts is a graduate of Arkansas State University with a B.A. in Theatre and a minor in Interdisciplinary Family Studies. She has directed and worked on a wide variety of productions, from classic fairy tales to contemporary favorites. For the past 13 years, Annie has been a proud member of the Foundation of Arts, serving as a drama instructor and working with clients with special needs through the L.E.A.P. outreach program. The Addams Family marks her 13th main-stage production with the Foundation of Arts as director. Annie is passionate about creating a safe, supportive, and inspiring environment where actors can grow in their craft, take risks, and discover the joy of theatre.

KILEE ERICKSON, ASSISTANT DIRECTOR

Kilee currently works at St. Bernard's, as well as being very involved in the arts. She started taking classes in 2016 and while she loved being on stage, she became intrigued with tech and working backstage! She has been in over 25 shows at the Forum! She has helped create magic in multiple FOA productions, Godspell, Frozen Jr, Mean Girls Jr, Secret Garden, and Mary Poppins, just to name a few. She loves the work that goes behind the scenes to help create an amazing show! A fun fact about her is she has a hedgehog named, Dill Pickle!

JESSICA FOUTS, MUSIC DIRECTOR

Jessica Fouts has been a choral director for twelve years. She graduated from ASU with a bachelor's in Music Education and masters in Educational Leadership. Currently, she works for Douglas MacArthur Junior High and has a thriving choral program. Fouts has worked with the FOA before: music directing for Godspell, The Aristocats, and Finding Nemo Jr. She does the music for the Jonesboro Junior High's musical productions that include: Legally Blonde, SpongeBob the Musical, James and the Giant Peach, and Bye Bye Birdie. Jessica is married to Matt Fouts and they have two beautiful daughters together.

Meet the Creative Team

JENNY WESTMORELAND, COSTUME & MAKEUP DESIGN

Jenny Westmoreland works as a special education teacher at Valley View Junior High. She has two daughters, Eleanor and Evie, with her husband, John. She has participated in numerous plays as well as assistant directing. She has costumed House of Villains, Music Man, Hallelujah Girls, Secret Garden, and Savannah Sipping Society to name a few. In her spare time, she is a troop leader for a Girl Scout Troop and enjoys spending time with her family. Her favorite holiday is Halloween and her family designs fun costumes every year, most recently Elphaba and Glinda.

CANON FRANGENBERG, ASSISTANT COSTUMER

This is Canon's fourth time as assistant costumer for an FOA production. Most recently he helped costume Alice in Wonderland JR, as well as Mary Poppins and Mean Girls JR, while also taking part in both productions. He has a great passion for sewing and designing costumes. It has been so much fun to work on this fantastic show.

JAKE SEALE, CHOREOGRAPHER

The Addams Family marks Jake's second production with the FOA, following his roles as the Park Keeper and Valentine in Mary Poppins, and it's his debut as a Choreographer! With a dance background that began at age 2 and stage performances starting at 8, Jake is thrilled to join the creative team for this show. He can't wait for everyone to witness the tremendous effort put forth by this incredible cast and crew!

JOE CARR, SET DESIGN & CONSTRUCTION

Joe has served as Technical Director and Scenic & Lighting Designer for more than 70 productions. Besides enhancing the quality of FOA productions, Joe is no stranger to the stage himself and has occasionally served as music director for a handful of productions. He is a musician and songwriter and has even had the pleasure of contributing original music to complement stories told on stage. Joe serves the FOA full-time as Creative Director leading our financial and technical operations.

Meet the Creative Team

AVA INMAN, SCENIC ARTIST/MUSIC TECH

Ava is a local artist and FOA regular who has participated in numerous shows as well as lending her amazing painting skills to the set creation. She has assisted with stage art for several productions including Mean Girls Jr., Secret Garden: Spring Version, and Mary Poppins. With a keen eye for detail and a passion for bringing stories to life through her art, Ava's contributions have played a vital role in creating immersive experiences for audiences here at the FOA.

JAMES RICH, CONSTRUCTION

James graduated Southern Arkansas University in the year of 2022. He moved to Jonesboro in 2023 and found The Foundation of Arts not long after his arrival. James has served as Technical Assistant for a total of 24 Productions! One of his favorite sets that he worked on was Charlotte's Web. DIRECTOR'S NOTE

Welcome to The Addams Family! Tonight, we step into a world that may be spooky, kooky, and altogether ooky, but at its core, this story is about two things we can all relate to — love and family.

Wednesday Addams falls for someone completely unexpected, which brings two very different families together under one roof. Along the way, both families learn that love means embracing one another's differences, even when it's uncomfortable. We see Gomez and Morticia wrestle with their own love story — a passionate relationship shaken by a breach of trust. And we watch Alice and Mal, whose marriage has grown stale, rediscover their spark with a little help from the Addams clan. Each relationship shows us a different facet of love: young love, lasting love, complicated love, and love rekindled. In every case, this musical reminds us that love and family are rarely simple, but always worth fighting for.

Theatre is a special kind of magic — an act of love that brings people of all ages together to laugh, reflect, and share in a story. It reminds us that, much like the Addamses, we're all a little different, but when we gather in one space as actors, crew, and audience, something truly magical happens.

I hope you laugh loudly, embrace the kookiness, and leave tonight's performance with a spooktacular reminder of the joy of love, family, and community.

-Annie Clark-Roberts, Director
